Everyone has heard the old adage that “it’s good to learn from our failures, but it’s an even better thing to learn from someone else’s failures.” In this leadership seminar, Dr. Hawkins will show attendees how to rise from the ashes of King Saul’s failures, aspiring to greatness by learning from someone else’s struggles with the difficulties of leadership. This seminar is unique in its approach. Most leadership seminars have focused on “best practices,” while this one seeks to learn from someone else’s shortcomings. In this seminar, Dr. Hawkins takes the unique approach of identifying ten areas in which a famous biblical leader – King Saul – failed, deconstructs the events, and then looks at how we can use his experiences as springboards for our own positive achievement. Those who attend How the Mighty Are Fallen will be both challenged and empowered to rise above the level of mediocre leaders.

Who Should attend: Aspiring and established leaders in the church (pastoral leaders, elders, deacons, and teachers), as well as leaders in local business, government, and other organizations. Anyone interested in increasing their leadership skills in today's climate of rapid change, intense competition, and moral equivocation, will benefit from these leadership lessons drawn from the timeless pages of Scripture.

Ralph K. Hawkins has served as pastor in numerous congregations over the last twenty-five years. He holds a Doctor of Ministry (School of Theology, Sewanee, TN) and a Ph.D. in Biblical & Near Eastern Archaeology (Andrews University). He is a Professor of Religion and Director of the program in Religion at Averett University.
